⁵, Bothriechis nubestris was separated from Bothriechis nigroviridis (an extremely similar species) in July 2016. Prior to that, B. nigroviridis had been identified in the reserve. Photos of some of the individuals of what was thought were B. nigroviridis were identified by the authors of the description account as B. nubestris. As such, while we have confirmed the presence of B. nubestris in the reserve, it is now uncertain whether or not B. nigroviridis is present.
